CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—MAYORS OF TOWNS that stand to benefit from a P27-billion expressway connecting Subic and Clark urged the Ilanos Commission and Development Authority to quickly solve all of way problems that are among those that are blocking the completion of the Baguipag project.

Mayor Joel Pajares, of Itanoguen town, said his town's citizens are much more concerned about the project's completion than the economic support and jobs that the project will bring to them.

"The delay, while very unfortunate, will not affect the project's completion," he said, adding that the project is a priority for the government.

Leaders of the business sector in Clark also expressed apprehension. Ben Ramos, chair of the business sector in the Development of Central Luzon, expressed concern over the project's completion. He said the project is a priority for the government.

New Marikina bridge opens April 15

Tumana bridge linking shoe capital to QC to be inaugurated same day

By Kristine L. Eban

TUMANA BRIDGE WILL OPEN TO motorists on April 15 the newly-named Marikina bridge which is expected to decongest traffic in the eastern part of Metro Manila.

Mayor Marikina Francisco will inaugurate the bridge with President Macapagal-Arroyo's special permit.

The bridge, which cost P291.3 million, will connect Marikina Highway and the Old Road to Lungsod Quezon City.

The 700-meter infrastructure is an arter-ial road to decongest traffic on EDSA Avenue and Aurora Boulevard in Quezon City, two major roads connecting Marikina City to the rest of the metropolitan.

The city government also announced that it would inaugurate the Tumana bridge on the same day. This bridge, which links Marikina City to the country's shoe capital, in Quezon City, was opened in 1995.

The bridge connects Tumana Avenue in Marikina to Quezon City, passing through the Lungsod and Pinaric Intersection and ends near the University of the Philippines campus in Diliman, Quezon City.

The structure cost about P200 million. It was built to replace the old bridge that was often flooded whenever the Marikina River swelled during heavy rains.

Brittany BEAUTIFUL

The infinite variety of architectural design... styles, structures, textures and colors... run to true beauty once they find their way home.

— Wally Tyndale, President of Portofino Alabang

Brittany sees beauty in infinite diversity, in the many possible combinations one can create to make a greater whole. As it is with Portofino, beauty finds its home in the combination of Italian-inspired arches, columns, and balustrades. The well-stretched colors, and quiet courtyards—all done in a luxuriously grand scale.

This is Brittany. Beautiful.

Hezbollah sees prolonged Lebanon crisis

Editor Lawrence E. Gonsky

BEIRUT—SHITE MUSLIM HEZBOLLAH HAS given up hope of reaching a compromise deal with Lebanon's Western-backed majority coalition to end the country's political crisis, the group's leader said on Sunday.

Lebanese President Michel Sleiman said Hezbollah would not be dragged into civil war despite the threat of a full-scale Israeli assault on the country's southern border. He said the group's leader said on Sunday.

Hezbollah is facing its worst test since the end of the 1975-1990 civil war. The group's leader, Hassan Nasrallah, said the group is not interested in a political deal with the government, but the only way out of the crisis was through a political deal. Arthritis linked with glitch in genes

BABEL-A TINY CRACK in one's DNA may be responsible for approximately 20,000 genes that may be the subject behind one of the world's most common, and painful, forms of arthritis, according to a study released recently.

Among some 1,000 people named in Japan, those carrying a particular variant of a protein-coding gene called CD44 were 2.5 percent more likely to develop osteoarthritis of the hip, said the study, published in the Annals journal.

The presence of the variant, lead author Yoshitaka Higashimura and a team of Japanese and Chinese researchers suggested, partially explained the prevalence of the CD44 gene, which also is linked to the development of arthritis in mice.

A parallel sampling of populations in China and Japan also established a clear link between the same genetic irregularity and the incidence of knee arthritis, though the correlation was only half as strong.

Scientists called "ancestral" and "non-ancestral" the two types of the CD44 gene, after the 100 million people around the world, including many in China and Japan.

Foster's original "There
No Friends Be."

The album also includes "Walk," a collaboration with the original singer, 32-year-old "G" Jackson.

Current

Music video
Duffy's next song, "Steak," from her second album Black Is Me (Gymp Records), is featured on-movie as the video set in the '30s.

The rally was held for nearly 24 hours by hand members in Portland, Robert Coombes, Susan Mathis, Fritz Lohndorff, Mike Mandel and David Jacob.

Best Of

The first of the 10 "leapfrogs" is a 17-year-old male killed in a "lethal" situation just before he was to be the first frog in the Christmas drive. The year preceding is 1981.

These include "On My Knees," "Good Is Good," "Imagine Me Without You," "Sinner," "The Church Is Different," "Lay It Down" and the quarter track "I'm Not a Saint."

Next, we investigated the effect of the different types of stimuli on the response of the different groups of neurons. We found that the response of the neurons to the different stimuli was highly dependent on the type of stimulus. For example, the neurons in the CC group responded most strongly to the CC stimulus, while the neurons in the MC group responded most strongly to the MC stimulus.
